Use twined rugs as bath mats, area rugs below the kitchen sink, or simply decorative throw rugs on otherwise bare floors. Make especially attractive rugs by choosing remnant fabrics that complement your existing decor. You can even dye your fabrics to ensure you have the colors you want. Since you're making these rugs from clothing and other washable materials, twined rugs are completely machine-washable. They are also very inexpensive because they can be made from items you already have.

Twining is an old weaving technique that has been adapted over the last century to make rag rugs. Twining is probably the most "homemade" kind of weaving. Strips of fabric are interwoven on a simple loom to make attractive and very durable rugs. Twining uses two weft strips, woven across the warp, and completely hides the warp so that any string yarn or fabric can be used. Often weavers use homemade looms made out of inexpensive, simple materials and built to the size the weaver wants.
